

Fire and Life Safety Educator Quarterly Training

After the Fire: Recovery & Resources

BREAKING NEWS

HOME CONSIDERED 'A TOTAL LOSS' AFTER FIRE

Losing a home in a fire is a devastating experience that deeply disrupts a family's life. They face uncertainty about where to stay, how to rebuild, and regain some sense of normalcy. The challenges of finding temporary shelter, replacing essentials, navigating insurance claims, and planning for the future add significant stress. This tragedy impacts every aspect of life, leaving lasting scars.

This Quarterly focuses on teaching our Fire & Life Safety Educators about available aid programs and rebuilding resources to help the people of South Carolina recover. Service agencies and organizations represented will discuss resources across these five key categories:

1. Immediate Assistance
2. Long-Term Assistance
3. Insurance & Financial Help
4. Emotional & Mental Health Support
5. Legal Assistance
