ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Robert Davidson is the Managing Partner of Davidson Code Concepts, and has more than 33 years of experience in the volunteer and career fire service. With more than 25 years as a code enforcer, Mr. Davidson retired as Fire Marshal of the South Brunswick Township Code Enforcement Department. He has experience teaching a variety of subjects involving health, safety, and code enforcement. He has been a speaker at numerous NFPA World Safety Conferences as well as at state and regional code official conferences.

In addition to his heavy involvement in drafting, submitting, and testifying on the provisions in the International Code Council's series of codes and various NFPA codes and standards, Mr. Davidson has specialized in addressing renewable energy topics including energy storage systems, PV roof systems, the use of hydrogen as a fuel, and flammable refrigerants. He has presented lectures on a multitude of firefighter safety and code related topics in addition to conducting ESS, PV, hydrogen energy, and biofuel workshops for building code and fire code officials throughout the United States.
